Garden Education
We have been teaching people of all ages to grow food organically for 36 years. Read this booklet to learn about our upcoming classes for adults, kids camps and school tours.

Farm Education
Learn to farm with us! Homeless and underserved youth learn job and leadership skills through Seattle Youth Garden Works, an urban agriculture youth employment program. Immigrants, refugees and low-income individuals develop small farming businesses through Seattle Tilth Farm Works.

Environmental Education
Gain expertise in composting and recycling... then teach others! Join Master Composter training in Seattle and Master Recycler Composter training in South King County and Eastside. Or participate in our wetlands restoration work at Rainier Beach Urban Farm this spring.

Cooking & Nutrition
We bring people together to cook and share meals in their own neighborhoods – at schools, community centers and churches. Find out about Community Kitchens Northwest on our website.

Seattle Tilth Produce
Seattle Tilth grew 44,000 pounds of food in 2014 and is growing more this year. We distribute it to the community through our CSA, farmers markets, food banks, subsidized Good Food Bags, restaurants and grocery stores. Consider joining our CSA!

Volunteering
Our volunteer program attracted 1,700 people last year and dedicated volunteers and interns play an essential role in helping Seattle Tilth accomplish our mission. Consider volunteering in our gardens and farms, events, classes, camps and office!

Membership
Members receive discounts on classes, invitation to members-only events, our bi-monthly print newsletter and a vote for Seattle Tilth’s Board of Directors. Look for member pricing on each class.

Garden Hotline
Ask us your garden questions! The Garden Hotline offers individualized solutions to your garden problems. (206) 633-0224 // help@gardenhotline.org

Donate
Consider making a charitable contribution to help us offer our educational programs to people with limited financial resources.
Urban Livestock

Taking care of animals and keeping them healthy requires knowledge and preparation. Take a class and gain a solid foundation. You will love the fresh, delicious, home-grown products and caring for your new friends!

Raise City Goats
- Saturday, May 30; 10 a.m.-noon, Private Residence in Madrona
Be a goat-herder in the city. Learn what it takes to keep miniature goats for fun, food or fiber. This class will introduce you to the basics of keeping mini-goats, including city regulations, miniature breeds, yard and shelter requirements, feeding, breeding, milking and keeping your herd healthy. Jennie Grant, author of City Goats and founder of the Goat Justice League, will show you around her goat yard, so that you can see the “kids” in action! Participants will leave the class with the basic information needed to decide if being an urban goat-herder is right for you.

Veggie Gardening

Eating fresh veggies and herbs that you grow yourself is a thrill! Learn how to get the best results using organic methods – healthy for you and the environment.

Grow Great Tomatoes
- Saturday, May 9; 10 a.m.-noon, GSC
Get ready to grow the biggest and most flavorful tomatoes, peppers and other heat-loving crops. Fresh tomatoes and peppers are some of the most delicious veggies, but they can be tricky to grow in our cool summers. This class will teach you everything you need to know to grow the biggest, earliest and most flavorful warm weather crops. Learn about season extension techniques, trellising, pruning, fertilizing, watering and harvesting. Use these techniques to try tougher crops like melons and eggplants. If you love tomatoes and peppers, don’t miss this class!

Secrets of Companion Planting
- Saturday, May 16; 10 a.m.-noon, GSC
Did you know that some plants grow better together? Improve the health and productivity of your garden by choosing plants that serve as companions, rather than competition for resources. This class provides an introduction to the many ways that you can combine plants to maximize your harvest and make the most of your space. Learn how annual and perennial food crops differ and how to incorporate both into your edible garden. We’ll also explore the permaculture concept of “plant guilds” and how to use nature as a model for your garden.

CSI Bees: Citizen Scientist Initiative for Bees in Seattle
- Saturday, June 13; 2 p.m.–4 p.m., BGP
- Saturday, Sept. 26; 10 a.m.–noon, BGP
Our food system relies upon pollinators and the valuable services they provide. Join Elias Bloom, pollinator entomologist, to explore the relationship between plants, pollinators and the tools we can use to save pollinators. Bloom will deliver easy techniques to identify flies, wasps, beetles, butterflies and bees. Use hands-on tools to record, measure and track observations over time. After the course participants of all ages are encouraged to be citizen scientists to monitor pollinator communities through science-based community action! Ages 8 and above; minors must be accompanied by an adult.

Intro to Permaculture
- Saturday, July 18; 10 a.m.–1 p.m., GSC
Learn how to go beyond organic gardening and use systems thinking to create efficient and abundant gardens that integrate human needs with the natural ecosystem. The goal of permaculture, short for “permanent agriculture” or “permanent culture,” is to minimize inputs and maximize relationships between plants, animals, environment and people. This class provides an introduction to permaculture ethics and principles as well as an overview of techniques that can be applied in an urban environment. You will leave this class with a greater understanding of the ecology at work in your backyard and learn ways to integrate the natural systems on your site for a more holistic and self-sustaining garden. Find out why so many people love permaculture!

Grow Fruit in Small Spaces
- Thursday, August 27; 6-8 p.m., BGP
Do you think you need an orchard or a big backyard to grow fruit? This class will show you how to utilize small spaces to grow tasty berries and fruits on bushes, vines and trees. Topics include special techniques for gardening in small spaces, using containers to grow fruits, selecting plants and varieties, and ongoing fruit tree care. Leave with the knowledge you need to incorporate delicious fruits into your landscape so you can enjoy the sweet rewards with limited effort.
